

The Place For Kitchens and Baths

WHERE DESIGN, FUNCTION & QUALITY COME TOGETHER

Leaders in Contemporary Kitchen & Bathroom Design - Florida

Creating something unique is no mean feat, especially in the world of interior design. It requires an inventive eye that balances the need for function with design. For Barbara C Geller, owner of The Place For Kitchens and Baths Inc., continually finding a new way of looking at the world is intrinsic to her worldview. With natural challenges built in, her accolade in BUILD's Home and Garden Awards is perfect for further investigation.

For over thirty years, The Place For Kitchens and Baths has been managing projects of design and finishes. Despite working for so long in this field, Barbara retains a creative approach of ensuring every space is bespoke. Her specialty is designing delightful spaces that not only fulfil a client's wish list, but are able to act as a space in which people are able to function from day-to-day.

Every project begins the same way, with the client placed at the center of the process. This allows her to handle each aspect with new eyes, creating options and various finishes that might satisfy their particular needs. Barbara sees each project as unique, to be approached with new thoughts and inventive solutions as well as her years of experience. Instead of handing off a project to a third party, Barbara remains with each development to the end of the process.

With a graduate education in Fine Arts, Barbara is well suited to finding the most innovative approach to a project, with her renowned attention to detail and creative solutions earning her a great deal of respect within the design community. This is best shown through her work in condominiums, where construction limitations make the work she performs more difficult on a practical level. Often, she is forced to work around columns, limited ceiling heights and electrical load limitations.

Having achieved long success in the industry, Barbara has built up the knowledge required to handle these issues. In fact, it is one of the aspects that encourages people to hire her. As a talented designer, able to combine the practical and the pleasant, it's no surprise that she is not only in high demand, but continues to go from strength to strength.
